

Application for ICSC Participation as Amicus Curiae

ICSC Members and non-members may request ICSC's participation to file an amicus curiae brief, either independently or with others, in pending appeals on issues of importance to the shopping center industry. Amicus participation requests are reviewed by ICSC's Legal Department in consultation with the ICSC Legal Advisory Council. Cases submitted for review should impact the shopping center industry and its members or involve policy questions or issues important to the shopping center industry and its members and should relate to cases pending on appeal to the highest court of a state or a federal appellate court. The decision of ICSC not to participate as an amicus curiae is not a statement or opinion on the merits of any individual case.
